

Red Bird-of-Paradise

Paradisaea rubra

As daylight breaks, sunlight reaches the leafy canopy of a towering forest tree. A male Red Bird-of-Paradise turns his body, wings open, to face downward from a bare branch. His flank plumes catch the light and his body is framed by the heart-shaped ribbons cascading from his tail.

TheCornellLab

Please enjoy this coloring page excerpted from Birds of Paradise: A Coloring Expedition coloring book from the Cornell Lab of Ornithology, published by Princeton University Press.

Take a mindful coloring journey into the pristine forests of the New Guinea region, home to the fascinating and visually stunning 39 birds-of-paradise. Join original expedition team leader and world expert on birds-of-paradise, Dr. Edwin Scholes, and renowned photojournalist Dr. Tim Laman, to experience the sheer beauty of these incredible creatures through coloring.

If you would like to purchase your own copy of Birds of Paradise: A Coloring Expedition, we invite you to visit www.CornellLabPG.com and use promo code CLPG2020 to SAVE 25% on this and other Cornell Lab coloring books, puzzles, field guides, playing cards, children's books, and more when you spend a minimum of $40. Offer valid through 12/31/20.

Birds of Paradise

A Coloring Expedition

TheCornellLab  of Ornithology

Pencil • Marker • Watercolor pencil

